

MAPs

Medicaid Alternative Pathways to Independence

Progress is a MAPs Partner with the TN Department of Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities. We provide MAPs services to individuals in Middle Tennessee.

What is MAPs?

MAPs is a program that sets people with intellectual and developmental disabilities on a path to learn skills to help them work, live independently, learn about their neighborhoods and find hobbies that interest them. MAPs services give people in the program the tools, technology and support they need to meet the goal they set for themselves.

What does MAPs do?

MAPs helps people with intellectual and developmental disabilities:

- Get around the community more independently
- Create networks with people, places and activities in their community
- Get a job and grow professionally
- Use enabling technology to increase independence in all areas of their life

Who is it for?

MAPs is mostly for people who may not be eligible for Medicaid or long term supports, but who need additional services to be successful. You might be eligible to enroll if you're a high school student preparing for graduation, a young adult who has recently left the school system, or you're a person waiting for Employment and Community First CHOICES waiver services.
